

WESTERLY

More than a dozen years ago, the tracks registers were used in connection with the collection of fares on the Pawcatuck Valley Street railroad, between Westerly and Watch Hill. This was before the line was taken over by the Shore Line Electric Railway company, so the device is not new to the old patrons of this line. There will be a return to the tracks register next Monday and on that day it will be introduced on the Groton-Stonington line. The conductors have been instructed in its use, and the proposition looks good to them, according to one of the conductors, who said, "It will relieve conductors from a lot of book-keeping." He added that almost all conductors on the line, and therefore the usual objection against the use of the register is removed.

Forty-four employees of the Interstate Consolidated Street railway in Providence, which serves Attleboro and other points, have petitioned the company, that the use of these hand registers be discontinued.

the real condition became known, and Gregg was arrested.

The case against Joseph Salomone, charged with assaulting Charles Main, was continued to Friday next as the principal witness for the state, Main, was unable to be in court. The bonds of $1000 was continued.

John Heroux has deserted again from the navy, from the submarine base on the Thames. Heroux is a resident of Westerly, and about a month ago the local police received a naval circular stating that Heroux was a deserter, and that a reward of $50 would be paid for his return to the submarine base. He was picked up by Police Sergeant Ferguson, taken to the home of an automobile, and an expense of $12, and delivered to the proper office. That reward has not been paid.

Another notice was received by the police Saturday setting forth the information that Heroux had deserted again and a reward of $50 is offered for his return. The local police are on the lookout for Heroux. If he is apprehended the naval base will be notified to send and get him, as there is no desire to risk a $12 loss in the second capture.

This Heroux is the same chap who caused the arrest of two sailors at the railway station, alleging that they had assaulted him with a dangerous weapon, a knife in the hope of intimidating the plaintiff was abandoned. It developed that Heroux had slashed his own coat with a knife in the hope of intimidating the sailors, of whom he was jealous because of attendance given his lady love.

More than a year ago Heroux had trouble on Canal street with Frank Juliano and was shot through his cap, the bullet causing a slight furrow across the top of the head. Juliano was arrested, held for trial in the superior court, and indicated on the charge of assault with intent to kill. In the meantime, Heroux had enlisted in the navy, could not be located, and the trial of the case was continued.

The Westerly Board of Trade, with proper effort and carefully selected committee, could before the summer and make possible a much needed hospital for the town, according to a statement made Friday by a man of prominence. He does not desire to take the initiative and he contends it is within the province of the local semi-official organization, that can do things for the town that are not within the jurisdiction of the Westerly town council.

A suggestion is made that summer residents of Watch Hill, property owners there, and interested in the general welfare and advancement of the town, would give the proposed hospital movement substantial support, if the project were properly submitted to them. The suggestion believes that ten men could be found at Watch Hill, who would co-operate with residents of Westerly village, in building and financing a hospital. Westerly has a nucleus in the request of Mrs. William Hoxsey, but its only growth is the interest on the deposit, and cannot be utilized until a sum amounting to $100,000 can be raised. There is lots of talk in Westerly in the winter time, relative to the construction of a hospital and means for maintenance, but there is no action. The suggestion is that the time for action is in the good old summer time, while the Watch Hill season is on. Now.

Since the completion of the new railroad station, the transfer of mails is made by the post-office department and under contract to some local man. At present, Norman P. Tuckerman has the contract at $1800 a year. It is a losing proposition at the price as two-thirds of the contract sum is paid, the driver, and the balance is not sufficient to meet the automobile truck expenses, which include the cost of the truck, depreciation and maintenance. There has been a large increase in the volume of postal transfer business, since the time Mr. Welch did the transfer work, in exchange for the exclusive passenger and baggage business at the station.

Mr. Tuckerman realized he had made a mistake, after he had operated under the contract two weeks, and he then gave the required forty-five days' notice of annulment of the contract. Therefore his contract expires Sunday next. Postmaster Lehman will arrange for the temporary transfer of the mails. Bids for the contract are out for bids for the contract, but no bid had been received up to Friday night.

Captain Edward Roche, of New London, in charge of the railroad special agents of this section, was in Westerly Friday. He directed the recent investigation that led to the arrest of eight Westerly men, who were indicted for breaking and entering freight cars and larceny. With the aid of local police a large part of the loot was recovered in the homes of the accused men. Captain Roche and his men, with the assistance of William E. Jackson, New London county detective, of State Attorney Hall's office, have in the past made many arrests and the robbery of goods from freight cars has been materially reduced. A short time ago a yard foreman and two other railroad men in New London were detected and arrested while removing a barrel of potatoes from a car in the Port yard.

Local Laconics.

Plenty of sugar in Westerly with prices ranging from 23 to 29 cents a pound.

Local lobstermen report a scarcity for this season.

Westerly physicians have decided to give free treatment to the New York fresh air children, who are to be here from July 21 to August 4.

A bus has started in opposition to the Watch Hill trolley line, and there is talk of town regulation that will result in fair competition.

The Chautauqua guarantees for 1921, elected these officers: George B. Utter, president; Miss Marie Germaine, secretary; Howard Clark, ticket committeeman. The Chautauqua season of 1920 closed Friday.

STONINGTON

Joseph Roderick was before the town court, on complaint of Fish and Game Warden Louis Ross, charged with having two short lobsters in his boat. He paid the penalty of $25 and costs. Roderick is a minor and the court was inclined to leniency.

WESTMINSTER

The morning worship Sunday was conducted by John W. Curtis of Hallowell and the attendance was good, as was the discourse.

II Peter 1: 1-15, and I Cor. 7: 28-31. are the passages for study July 14 at the circle of prayer at home altars.

Summer people are arriving, among others Mrs. Stahlberg of New York at her sister's, Mrs. Axel Heldstrom's.

Mrs. Clarence Smith is enjoying a visit from her mother, Mrs. Pluget, of New York.

Some Westminster people were shocked by seeing the accident at Plainfield railroad crossing, where a runaway horse upset the vehicle, seriously injuring the young man and little girl, who received first aid at the emergency hospital of the town.

No one at the time could tell who were the people injured or whence they came.

Friends of the pastor and his wife who knew their return was hastened by Mr. Davies' sudden and serious illness are glad to hear of his decided improvement and that he is expected to be able to be around again within the next few days.

During their brief absence Mr. Davies was in Willimantic and Lebanon and Mrs. Davies in Boston attending the meetings of the tercentenary international congregational council as delegate from Westminster church. She is expected to give some account of these Sunday next.

The Newton family had a full reunion at the holiday, Mr. Newton and Fred Newton coming from the Groton from work, Miss Ethel from Norwich, Violet from Central Village and Mrs. Fred Mende from New Jersey.
